

Back for its third year, Fin-k Tank takes a look at what is new in the worlds of tech and investing.

With a fast-paced afternoon of fintech demos, panels, new entrants and giant incumbents, this afternoon will bring up to speed anyone interested in how to build better services for customers. Join us for a seminar which will inform, challenge, and entertain at the same time.

12:30 - 13:00  Registration

Section One: New Models

- 13:00 - 13:15 What customers want Holly Mackay, CEO of Boring Money
Holly will talk us through a market update from the Boring Money Insights team. How has fintech impacted investors today? What do consumers want? Where are the opportunities?
- 13:15 - 13:45 How to build an early stage business in a sector which doesn't support the typical start-up philosophy of "move fast and break things"
Simon Rogerson, CEO and Founder of Octopus
Neil Costigan CEO of BehavioSec
Simon and Neil show us what can go wrong and what good looks like.
- 13:45 - 14:05 How is tech enhancing advice? Panel Discussion
Where do we sit currently and where do we think technology will take us in the coming years?
Adam Price, CEO of Hatch
Joe Parkin, Head of iShares & Digital Wealth at BlackRock
Davinia Tomlinson, Founder & CEO of Rainchq
- 14:05 - 14:20 Mobile: How to use it well in your proposition Tessa Lee, MD of MoneyInfo
Companies can sometimes be accused of making an app for app's sake. As specialists in client portals and mobile apps for the wealth management industry, Moneyinfo will cover how to avoid this pitfall and fully utilise mobile.
- 14:20 - 14:50 Digital distraction is affecting our decisions Dr Anastasia Dedyukhina, Founder of Consciously Digital
Dr Dedyukhina helps people develop healthier relationships with technology. She no longer owns a smartphone and argues that tech affects decision making, causing too many distractions in our lives. She'll discuss how companies need to capitalise on consumers' 5 minute distraction window.

Section Two: A Look Ahead

15:20 - 15:50 The 'Future Home' - Live Elena Corchero, Futurist at Unruly
Unruly's futurist shows us what to expect in the consumer landscape that will change the expectations of consumer needs and demands when it comes to technology. What will our homes look like in 2030?

Our demos all tackle the question of engagement.

What angles could we adopt to engage more people with the world of investing?

15:50 Demo One: Victor Trokoudes, CEO and Co-founder of Plum
Can a chatbot be the one to get people to invest?

16:05 Demo Two: Be-IQ
Could it be through behavioural finance?

16:20 Demo Three: Tom McGillicuddy, Co-founder of Tickr
Will 'ethical investing made easy' be the way into a new type of investor?

16:35 Demo Four: John Abbott, Director of Business Growth & Partnerships at Yoti
Better ways to prove identity make for smoother onboarding.

16:50  Q&A with the demos & the audience votes

17:10 Final thoughts Holly Mackay, CEO of Boring Money
Holly Mackay will close with a summary of the day, as well as some stats and facts on consumer behaviours to challenge us all!

17:30 - 19:30 Drinks and networking
